

FORGIVE AND FORGET, JAP PREMIER ASKS

LOOKING AS BRUTAL as they are charged with being at the Belsen horror camp, Irma Grese and Joseph Kramer—"The Beast of Belsen"—are shown at the prison at Celle, Germany, where they will soon go on trial for their lives. The former was in charge of the Belsen horror camp death cells where many thousands died. (International)

Demobilization Job Defended By Army

Congress Also Girds for Major Battle Over Japs and Jobless Benefits—Elliott Roosevelt's Finances and Loan To Britain Also Prime Topics

By MAX HALL
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—(P)—The army put on a drive today to convince congress it is doing about the best demobilization job it can under the circumstances.

1. Gen. George C. Marshall began sending personal letters to all members of congress. He enclosed a booklet telling how hard the army is trying to bring the boys home fast.

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

Did you ever hear of a cabbage snake?
Well, Office Stookey, South Fayette Street, former city councilman and well-known water repairer, just brought one of the "reptiles" into the office.
This specimen was not over six inches in length, but I have seen them 18 inches long, and have had reports on some even longer.
The "snake" was found in a head of cabbage, a thing which makes Office think that he might not be so fond of cabbage for a while.

As a matter of fact I believe a "cabbage snake," which is always greenish white, and a "horsehair snake" (properly called a horsehair worm) are one and the same thing, although the brown horsehair worms are usually seen on the surface of pools of water. I believe, too, that they are parasites that usually are hatched in the bodies of cockroaches, crickets and other insects.
The worms are about the size of a broom straw, and vary in length, although usually about 10 inches long.
They are not very pleasant when they bore into the heads of cabbages and are found when the cabbage is being sliced.

Mrs. Warren Swartz of near Sabina knows now that her neighbors are friends in every sense of the word.

Mr. and Mrs. Swartz had planted a field of sweet corn under contract to the cannery factory. After Mr. Swartz died, shortly before the corn was ready to be harvested, Mrs. Swartz was faced with all that corn and no way to get it to Sabina to the factory.

That's where the neighbors stepped in. They came with their tractors and wagons to take the corn to the factory. While the men were working their wives prepared lunch.

WORST IS OVER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—(P)—The worst of the mass layoffs in war industries is over, the War Manpower Commission said today.
Job losses will continue to be heavy for some time, the agency predicted, but at a steadily declining rate.

PEACETIME ARMY PLAN ATTACKED BY REP. BROWN

Colorado Senator Proposes Occupation of Germany and Japan Be Left to Allies

CINCINNATI, Sept. 14—(P)—A proposal to leave the job of policing Germany and Japan to European, Chinese and Russians was presented by Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) in a radio talk last night on the town meeting of the air.
Johnson said he would like to see 10,000 American observers stationed in the Axis countries "to keep us fully posted on what goes on" but "other than that we ought to keep out of Germany and Japan."

Appearing on the same program, Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio), Blanchester publisher, challenged War Department figures which would set up a peacetime army of 2,500,000 after next July.

(Brown represents Fayette County, as a part of the seventh Ohio district, in the lower house of the national Congress.)

"These officials," he said, "contend we need . . . 900,000 in the Pacific, 500,000 in Europe and 1,100,000 here in the United States. 'I challenge these figures. Remember, they are from the same man who less than a week before Japan's capitulation, when they knew peace overtures were being made, insisted we needed an Army of 8,300,000. They told us, after Japan had quit, that we must continue to draft 100,000 men a month. They insisted we needed at least 850,000 soldiers for occupation duty in Japan."

"Now, Generals Eichelberger and MacArthur indicate a much smaller occupation army, perhaps only 300,000, will be sufficient. . . . And by the way, what's wrong with getting a little help from China, Russia, Great Britain, France, Australia, The Netherlands and the Philippines in the policing of Japan?"

Other developments in congress today:
Republicans—G. O. P. members of the House met to talk about a program of action. All 189 of them were invited. By sticking together they want to swing the heaviest possible weight in battles. They are also interested in next year's elections.

Jobs—One of the major post-war proposals supported by President Truman is a bill to provide government planning toward the goal of full employment. It now is in the hands of the full membership of the Senate Banking Committee.

Merchant ships—The Senate Commerce Committee began hearings on a bill that would permit the Maritime Commission to sell merchant vessels built during the war. There are thousands of these. President Truman wants them put on sale right away.

Some Republicans still swung punches at the idea of lending money to Britain. . . . A House committee still studied Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt's financial dealings. . . . A Senate committee heard more testimony on a bill to let President Truman reorganize government agencies.

Congress today plunged into the historic task of investigating the Pearl Harbor disaster.
House and senate each appointed members of a joint committee of both houses to find out how and why this country took such a clubbing Dec. 7, 1941 in the Japanese sneak attack.

The committee, which must report back to Congress by Jan. 3, (Please Turn to Page Two)

YANKS IN PRISON DREAMED OF FOOD

Unidentified Marine Made Out Menus for Six Meals A Day, One Every Three Hours

By HAL BO/LE
YOKOSUKA NAVAL BASE, Japan—(P)—Thoughts of food filled the mind of Oscar, poet laureate and historian of Camp Ashiro, during most of his waking hours. It was the same with fellow marine prisoners of the Japanese.

They were hungry all the time and they liked most to think upon food. Oscar, who served with the marines in Shanghai before his capture in Philippines, went farther. He wrote down his thoughts on food in his handmade small memory book, which in after times probably will be known as Camp Ashiro's yearbook.

He divided one page into four columns and wrote down all foods he could remember. The columns were for meats, vegetables, pastries and desserts. Oscar wrote down 26 kinds of meat without listing luncheon loaf, even dire hunger hadn't driven him to endorsing that.

Among his 26 pastries were 16 varieties of pie. Under desserts, Oscar listed ice cream only once. He didn't have the heart to go into the different flavors.
Once Oscar spent an entire day writing down what he regarded as the perfect menu. It is an amazing menu consisting of six meals between six o'clock in morning

Uncle Sam Trades Rein for Spur And Civilian Scarcities Easing

THE SAME NIP COMMANDER, Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, who sent Lt. Gen. Jonathan W. Wainwright back for a promotion in rank before he would accept the American's surrender of U. S. forces on Corregidor in 1942, strikes a disconsolate pose as he awaits the arrival of the man he scorned when the rising sun was bright in the sky. The heroic Wainwright, who was just released from a Jap prison camp and participated in the formal Japanese surrender in Tokyo bay, was delayed on his flight back to the Philippines where, in a "table-is-turned" ceremony, he accepted the now far-from-haughty Yamashita's capitulation of Jap forces on Luzon. Severe Hurricane Heads For Florida

Tropical Storm of Near-record Velocity Driving Northwest From Caribbean Expected To Hit Mainland Saturday; Troops Ready for Evacuation

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 14—(P)—A hurricane of near-record velocity, whipped by winds estimated as high as 135, MPH, was reported driving toward the Florida coast 570 miles southeast of Miami today.

As the storm approached, all Army Transport Command planes were sped away from Miami airfields to safer zones in Alabama and Tennessee. Navy planes had already left.

In addition, the ATC ordered all troops to be ready for evacuation to safer quarters by noon tomorrow.

At 11 A.M. coast guard headquarters here sent out an order to all coast guard group commanders at Key West, Miami, Port Everglades, Port Pierce and Tampa to notify all residents of outlying points of the approaching storm and to aid in any evacuation considered necessary.

Over 2,000 coast guardsmen and 200 vessels were put on the alert by the order.

At its present rate of movement, averaging 17 MPH, the storm may be expected to strike the Florida Coast about 7 P. M. (E. W. T.) Saturday.

Nearly 1,000 troops in the Miami area were set to work this morning clearing away debris signs and other loose objects which might be swept away and transformed into death-dealing missiles by the storm.

Army and Navy "hurricane hunters," equipped with new scientific devices, went out into the swirling storm area to keep a close watch on the progress of the hurricane.

Federal Storm Forecaster W. O. Johnson issued a preliminary alert for the entire Florida Peninsula.

The Navy evacuated planes from the big Miami naval air station. Officials of the Miami Army air base and other military interests in the section arranged to fly planes northward if hurricane warnings were hoisted.

Military personnel will be evacuated from exposed areas.

JAP PEOPLE TO BE TOLD FACTS ABOUT ATROCITIES
YOKOHAMA, Sept. 14—(P)—General MacArthur directed today the stark facts of Japanese atrocities be told in full to the Japanese people.

Representatives of Japanese newspapers agreed, at the suggestion of the supreme commander, to publish a summary of the atrocity reports as the start of a program to "educate the Japanese people in the acts of their military."

Private Business Is Taking Over from Government — All Rationing, With Exception of Sugar Likely To Be Eliminated by End of Year

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—(P)—America today sped into its second month of peace.

Businessmen and working men are taking the reins from government. In kitchen, store and factory, the wartime squeeze is gone or slated to go.

All rations but sugar may end this year. Scarce clothes are due back in 60 days or so. Most travel curbs are off this week-end.

The War Production Board reports reconversion running two to three weeks ahead of schedule. The makers of washers, refrigerators, autos and such aids have reported. By December a production rate 12 percent higher than the pre-war average, in terms of pre-war dollars. By next June, 87 percent higher.

Re-employment doesn't climb that fast. Perhaps 6,200,000 persons will be idle by mid-December.

Many will just be "between jobs." But by then 800,000 veterans will be discharged monthly into the labor market.

To encourage business expansion, higher living standards and more jobs—quickly—is the new government drive.

For the country at large, this is the outlook in the next few months:

Meat rationing may be eased further by October 1, lifted entirely soon after.

Fats and oils—very scarce now, may be ration-free by the turn of the year.

Sugar prospects are dim until 1946.

Shoes—Off by October 1, if the request of WPB's leather bureau is heeded.

Tires—Rubber companies think you'll get them ration-free by the end of the year.

Truck—All rationing ceases December 1.

This is the outlook for war agencies:

War Manpower Commission—Uncertain, may be next to go. Its boss, Paul V. McNutt, heads for the Philippines shortly as high commissioner.

Petroleum Administration for War—Now liquidating. Will have a skeleton crew by mid-October, but may linger to the end of the year.

Office of Defense Transportation—Vastly deflated by next month. May last out the year.

War Relocation Authority—Winds up its activities by January 1.

WAINWRIGHT BARES CHARACTER OF JAPS

Hero of Bataan Opposed to Soft Occupation

NEW YORK, Sept. 14—(P)—Japanese character today lay stripped bare by a man who knows it well—Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright.

He demanded neither "a soft occupation nor a soft peace."

"The Japanese can be subservient; they can be pleasant and cooperative if it suits their purpose," he said last night at a dinner given in his honor after a wild reception in New York.

"But the men who were captured on Bataan and Corregidor," he said, "have seen the Japanese character in the raw."

"They have seen what Japanese soldiers do when they are on top, and I think all of us who lived through tortured days are determined they shall never be on top again."

Two burned to death
NORWALK, O., Sept. 14—(P)—Steven Szucs and John Czichlos, Hartland township farmers, were burned to death yesterday in an automobile collision.

Army Doctors and Nurses Now Slated for Release
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—(P)—13,000 physicians, 25,000 nurses, 3,500 dentists and a "large number" of other medical department officers will be returned to civilian life by January 1. This new system for medical department officers no longer needed by the army involves a combination of lower point scores, age and length of service.

The department said that medical and dental corps officers will be considered surplus and released.

OCCUPATION END IS POSSIBLE IN YEAR, IS BELIEF

MacArthur Urges Critics of 'Soft Glove' To Be Patient; More Big Shots Suicide

By the Associated Press
Premier Prince Higashi-Kuni called upon the people of America to forget Pearl Harbor as Japan builds "a completely new, peaceful" nation, in an exclusive statement today to the Associated Press.

"America has won and Japan has lost," the premier wrote in answer to a letter from the Associated Press. "The war is ended. Let us now bury hate. This has been my policy since the organization of the present cabinet."

"People of America—won't you forget Pearl Harbor; we Japanese people will forget the picture of devastation wrought by the atomic bomb and will start entirely anew as a peace-loving nation."

Freedom Foreseen
The premier, whose entire public life heretofore has been spent in the Army, promised that "the Japanese people will for the first time enjoy freedom by oppression by the militarist clique" as the freedom of speech and of the press are gradually extended.

The prince recently publicly solicited a letter of criticism and suggestion from the people and promised an answer whenever possible—an unprecedented promise in Japan's history.

The Associated Press took him at his word and sent a letter containing ten questions and received a nine-page letter of reply within 24 hours.

Higashi-Kuni sketched a long and difficult period ahead in building a "new Japan."

Allied occupation of Japan could end in a year, Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of U. S. Eighth Army occupation forces, estimated today—but whatever the duration, the surrender terms "aren't" soft and they won't be applied in kid glove fashion," General MacArthur asserted in a formal statement.

MacArthur asserted critics of his "so-called soft policy" had an "erroneous concept" of his preliminary program which he said must continue until Japan is disarmed about mid-October.

Simultaneously he suspended all operations of the Japanese Domei News Agency. The Japanese government speeded its roundup of Japanese and other Orientals he wanted for questioning.

Eichelberger, in a press conference, asserted that "when an insular country loses its land, sea and air power, and is without raw materials and has big countries sitting on its flanks, it can't be much of a threat."

Forecast Based on "If"
"I say that if the Japanese continue to act as they are now acting, within a year this thing should be washed up."

That period should include any necessary rebuilding, he said, re-

RELEASED PRISONERS CRITICIZE SOFTNESS

They Want No 'Kid Gloves' Used in Handling Japs

By FRED HAMPSON
MANILA, Sept. 14—(P)—Allied liberators funneling through Manila en route home are variously baffled, disappointed and indignant over what they describe as "kid glove" treatment of the Japanese.

In 10 days I have visited 2,300 of them on ship's docks, replacement centers, hospitals and officers' quarters. Some openly are critical of early occupation policies, particularly the enlisted men and civilians. All warn that many Japanese do not realize they were defeated and view the peace as a temporary recess ordered by the emperor.

One enlisted man at a replacement depot grudgingly read a Domei dispatch and growled "What the hell's going on up in Tokyo? Who won this war, anyway?"

WORLD TODAY

—By DEWITT MACKENZIE—

The Balkan political troubles have, as was to be expected, descended like a plague of locusts on the London conference of the Big Five foreign ministers who have been trying to frame a peace treaty for Italy as a first step in European readjustment.

It was too much to hope that Italy's case could be handled without intrusion of the Balkan difficulties, which have given rise to sharp differences of opinion among the Big Three—between the Russians on one hand and the Anglo-American allies on the other. Apart from other considerations, peace treaties also have to be drawn up for Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary, as axis satellites.

Speaking in very general terms, the Balkan political upheavals are the result of the sweep of the leftist tide across Europe. They are offshoots of the fight for power in the various states between the extreme left and the right.

Then there is another far-reaching issue involved. Russia and Britain are up against the question of who's who in the Balkans, that is, whose sphere of influence southeastern Europe is in. Taking it all in all, it looks as though the Big Three were on the verge of a vastly important showdown.

One of the significant developments of this situation is that the remaining Balkan thrones are shaking like jellies, and the royalists are rushing to the rescue. The position of young King Mahaj of Romania has suddenly become precarious and there's speculation whether he will be able to avoid abdication. Romania has a Moscow-sponsored government which Mahaj doesn't want and which neither Washington nor London recognizes.

Equally youthful King Peter of Yugoslavia is hammering at the door of the foreign ministers' council in London, trying to gain help in ousting the leftist government of Marshal Tito. Peter's chances don't look so hot, since all the Big Three have recognized Tito's government. Moreover, Moscow can't have much love for the Yugoslav royal family. Prince Paul, uncle of the king and regent until 1941, was bitterly anti-communist. Also Paul comes from the Russian royal family, and it is said that he had ambitions to sit on the throne of the Czars.

U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes also has consulted with the Greek regent, Archbishop Damaskinos, in London. Meanwhile, unhappy King George of Greece is in Scotland waiting anxiously to be called back to his throne but knowing well that his chances of seeing it again are small.

The Greek situation of course is the reverse of that in Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania. The Greek regency is backed by England but is much in disfavor in Moscow. The governments of the other three countries are unsatisfactory to America and Britain, but have Russia's hearty blessing.

A tentative draft of the Italian treaty is said to have been under consideration, but the Balkan problems kept swarming in and raising the question of whether they won't have to be dealt with at the same time, thus complicating the task tremendously. The way things look, if there is to be agreement among the Big Three, there will be sharp concessions all around. That is to say, in order to get agreement on the Italian treaty, there may have to be quid pro quo in other matters not directly related.

The urgency of the situation is clearly indicated by the fact that Secretary Byrnes has called America's key representatives in southeastern Europe to London on the jump. They are consulting with him today.

PROBATE JUDGE MUST NAME NEW BOARD MEMBER

Attorney General Ruling in Green Township Case Is of Interest

Prosecutor John B. Hill has received word from Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins that a probate judge has authority and must make an appointment filling a vacancy on a township board of trustees in a township which has no justice of the peace or municipal court judge.

The opinion was given after Prosecutor Hill had been asked the question regarding procedure to fill the vacancy on the Green Township board of trustees caused by the recent death of James Johnson, member of the board.

The other two members of the board are Virtus Kruse and Russell A. Fouch, and it was upon their request that Prosecutor Hill acted to obtain definite ruling.

As the law makes it mandatory that such a vacancy be filled by the probate judge, it is expected that Judge Rell G. Allen will name a successor to Johnson in the near future so the board will have a complete membership once more.

The decision is of general interest throughout the state, for it seems that in some instances elsewhere board members have named a successor where a vacancy occurred, instead of the appointment being made by the probate court or municipal judge.

VETERANS HOSPITAL JOBS ARE NOW OPEN

Ex-servicemen Get Preference At Chillicothe Institution

Veterans looking for jobs will be welcomed by the U. S. Veterans Administration Facility in Chillicothe.

The veterans' hospital needs men to fill the positions of hospital attendant, mess attendant, maid, waitress, waiter, kitchen helper and related positions at salaries of from $1440 to $1572 annually.

Under the veterans' preference laws, those who have the right to veteran preference must be considered for the positions before all other persons. Applications will be accepted from persons not entitled to military preference who live in the place of employment or the immediate vicinity of it, but they can be considered for employment only in the absence of eligibles entitled to military preference.

Application forms may be obtained from the secretary of the board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Howard C. Allen in Washington, D. C. Applicants are not required to have any specific length of experience in the performance of the duties required. Hospital attendant applicants must be 18 and mess attendants must be 16 at the time of applications. All applicants must be physically capable of performing the duties of the position and be free from defects or diseases which would make employment hazardous to themselves or endanger their fellow employees.

More information regarding the positions open may be obtained from the secretary of the Civil Service board.

HIGHWAY WORK WELL ADVANCED IN THIS AREA

Resurfacing on U. S. 22 Is To Be Finished Within Next Ten Days

The Clinton Construction Company is moving forward rapidly with the resurfacing of the concrete highway on U. S. 22 from the Bogus Road to Johnson's Crossing, and will have the job completed within the next 10 days or two weeks if the weather is favorable.

Some three inches of bituminous macadam is being laid on the concrete, and the road will be an ideal piece of paving when finished.

Part of the road has been entirely covered and the remainder has the first layer over half of the surface.

Work of filling up the berms on the CCC highway where the road was resurfaced from this city to Mt. Sterling, is now under way.

In the meantime the contractors have completed much of the resurfacing northeast of Mt. Sterling, to a point beyond the overhead bridge at the B. & O. railroad, in Era, and may complete the work this week.

Completion of the CCC resurfacing gives a smooth highway most of the distance between Washington C. H. and Columbus.

In addition to the resurfacing work, the surface treating of many miles of other state roads in the county is being carried forward as weather permits, and for weeks the weather has been ideal for the application of tar and stone chips.

The county program is being completed and has been an extensive one.

JUST A FRIENDLY CHAT

When you become a Christian, a born again one you are a new creature (or creation) a child of God. You are a member of an invisible church, Christ's own church ("upon this rock I will build my church" Mat. 16:18). You are a member of an invisible body (Christ's own body). *You are serving an invisible God (one you can feel). After this becomes an accomplished fact, no man or men on earth have the authoritative power to dismember you from the body of JESUS CHRIST.

This has been tried by leaders who simply usurped the authoritative power to do so—being self-esteemed jealous hearted, selfish, full of pride, greedy for power and a desire to get even, which leads to the foundation of it all. Each and every member that man has tried to dismember are still members of the body of JESUS CHRIST—regardless of any man's or all men's combined power to dismember. This alone brands this move as a false doctrine, and may be referred to as man's weakness through the power of Satan. All leaders that have "studied to show themselves approved" know that this just cannot be done, and all dismembering that leaders have tried to do has been through false pretense, for it is not SPIRITUALLY LEGAL. Leaders that see no farther than this are following the traditions of man instead of the commandments of God, and grown so worldly that they feel that they have more power than God. Satan's business is to make you feel that way. If Satan accomplishes this you have added another feather to his hat at your expense. Some men seem to think that they can do what God cannot, they give self and worldliness pre-eminence over He Who said, "I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, . . . Thou shalt have no other Gods before Me." (Ex. 20:3-5) Leaders are you following the traditions of men or the COMMANDMENTS OF GOD? Is your every act SPIRITUALLY LEGAL? There is no promise for he who that follows the traditions of men.

Are We Plain Sops?

It is surprising to see how England and France have adopted planned national socialization of industry as a political philosophy after they turned to the biggest capitalist country in the world to save them from destruction by it.

There was delightful sarcasm in the remarks of "conservative" Sir Oliver Lyttleton in the House of Commons, when he told the House that the British standards of living depend on financial aid from the United States, and that "you must be careful about the nasty things you say about private enterprise that will affront American opinion."

Why should the socialistic regime in England think of turning to the United States and private enterprise to finance its socialistic schemes? Let the "liberal" party in England tax its own people to pay for the "gifts" which it promises them at the hands of government. If socialism is superior to free enterprise, it can certainly finance its spendings.

Mr. deGaulle recently was in the United States. He sought financial aid for the program of "national socialization" of industry which is planned for France. Why should we finance a system of government that threatened world peace? We spent countless American lives and some $300,000,000,000 to help curb the crushing effect of national socialism under Hitler and Mussolini.

The seeds of national socialism are well planted in our own soil, in the form of electric power "authorities." And Congress is being asked for additional billions of dollars to nourish and expand this malignant political growth here.

Are we now ready to admit that the totalitarian type of centralized government is superior to our own free enterprise and profit system?

The United States stands as the last great exponent of private enterprise, private opportunity and the philosophy of allowing the individual to profit from his own labors. Are we going to throw in with the schemes of those who cried for help from political oppression and now seek to adopt the system we fought to save them from?

Fair Trial

Freedom of the press is important. No democracy can function without it. But it's pretty easy in this land of the free for critics to shoot off rather wildly and sometimes irresponsibly. That doesn't really do any good.

For example, consider the government of Japan. The United Nations in general and MacArthur in particular did not leap hastily and thoughtlessly into using the Japanese emperor as head under MacArthur, Japanese officials under our Army of Occupation as tools in the government of Japan. They decided for good and sufficient reasons to start out in that manner, making it very clear that if orders are not obeyed, trouble will ensue. Why not, then, let them have a good try at it without shouting that they are all wrong?

Germany and Japan present radically different problems, different in turn from

Could the critic do better?

German Routine

Reeducation of even anti-Nazi Germans is not going to be simple. That is evident in a recent experience of the military government in Berlin.

According to a New York Times dispatch, the authorities had carried over the principle of the old block-leader system in order to re-establish some vestige of order. Under it, street, block and house leaders appointed by borough mayors served, without salary, in finding living quarters for the people, distributing ration cards and reporting Nazis. All of those appointed were anti-Nazis.

What happened was revealing. Many of the leaders promptly took unto themselves, in the name of democracy, the prerogatives of their Nazi predecessors. They seized quarters for themselves, played favorites in assigning jobs and handing out ration classifications, and enforced attendance at their own political meetings. So used were the Germans to petty intimidation that it was some time before these activities were reported to headquarters.

The system was abolished immediately. But, the dispatch continues, "The appalling fact was that the investigation showed none of the leaders to be Nazis or types otherwise considered unsatisfactory." They were just so used to that way of getting things done that it never occurred to them that it was unjust.

Apparently not only the Nazis, but all Germans, need reeducation.

Diet and Health

Some Causes of Fatigue

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.
MANY persons who come into the doctor's office have just one complaint. They are fatigued or tired out. They have no pep. They have to drive themselves to go to work. All such people want their vitality restored over night, but this is not always an easy matter, for there are many causes for fatigue, and until the cause is found and removed the fatigue is likely to remain, and even then it takes time to restore them to full health.

Unfortunately, according to Doctor Walter C. Alvarez, of Rochester, Minnesota, in many instances the fatigue is not due to any actual disease, but is often the result of some mental attitude or state of mind. In such instances, the fatigue is usually present in the morning, the patient wakes up with it, and it gradually wears off in the late afternoon.

Feels Better

About three or four o'clock in the afternoon, the patient may begin to feel so much better that by ten o'clock at night he is ready for activity of various types. Obviously, this fatigue is not due to a hard day's work because, if it were, it would most likely develop at night. Many of the tired people are somewhat frail and sickly. It is not possible to make these people over, but their lives can be so adjusted as to avoid mental and physical strain insofar as possible. Many women are tired because they are unhappy and full of worry, and these worries may be of various types, of course, such as financial troubles, etc. In such instances, the matter of relieving tiredness is one of readjusting the person's attitude toward his difficulties.

Actual Disorders

Among the many actual disorders which can contribute to tiredness which is not due to mental attitudes, are high blood pressure, hyperthyroidism, that is, excessive secretion from the thyroid gland, and hypothyroidism or lack of thyroid secretion. Heart disease is a less common cause for constant fatigue. Often an attack of influenza will leave a person tired for weeks or months, but this, as a general rule, clears up sooner or later. In older people, occasionally, a small hemorrhage into the brain will occur, which may cause some tiredness together with mental confusion and other symptoms.

The fatigue, however, in some instances is, according to Doctor Alvarez, a sign of nervous breakdown or psychoneurosis. In each instance, then, the proper thing to do is to find the cause behind the condition and to relieve it by such means as are available.

It is important for a person to develop a cheerful attitude of mind. Unless you are happy yourself you cannot make other people happy. Cheerfulness is a duty you owe to society because you have to live with other people and they with you. SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN
SANDRA EDWARDS would have been surprised, even disappointed, if she could have heard the conversation between Belinda and her father. There was nothing dramatic or spectacular about it, no key for the red-haired girl to use in her plans to win over the little girl.

"Hi, Dad," Belinda showed emotion in no way except her walk. It surpassed her usual gait, which was speedy enough. "Hello, Skeeter." It was as if they had seen each other only a few hours earlier. Gordon Adams knew their periodic reunions had to be casual. But he was frequently amazed that his young daughter also knew it. She seemed to sense there could be no reproaches, no sulking.

She sat down at his feet. "Have a nice swim?" "Not bad, although I was too tired to stay in long. I'll feel stronger tomorrow." He tugged at one of her black pigtail. "You must come in with me tomorrow. It's more fun when a person has company."

"You had company?" "Yeh," he observed dryly. "And was I surprised?" Belinda glanced up quickly. "You're not angry because they are here, are you, Dad? You always do favors for Mr. Wakeman, so Brody and I thought—"

Her father cut in on her apologies. "Of course I'm not angry, Skeeter. Just as I said, I was surprised. There I was, basking in the sun. I figured I was all alone. No one had told me we had guests. You can imagine how I felt when the red-haired babe came out of her room." He saw his daughter's features relax happily over his slangy description of Sandra.

As if the words were being pulled from her with a forceps, Belinda said: "She is a pretty red-head."

"So what? Tell me about little Lord Four-Eyes. How do you get along with him?"

"I don't like him either," she said, baring her dislike for Sandra. "He's a snoot, Dad. All that 'Cheerio' and 'Toodles-oo' stuff."

"You mustn't be provincial, Belinda. That's no different from 'Hi' and such American remarks."

The little girl's nose curled. "That's not all. He won't go to school here in Copper Creek. He's trying to make Miss Edwards send him to a private school down in La Madera."

"Let him go," Gordon Adams was working on another cigarette. Apparently the taste in his mouth was better, for he kept on smoking. "I should think you'd be glad if Four-Eyes left the Mesquite. Then you wouldn't have him around to annoy you."

"He could be friendly if he tried." "Do you try?"

Again her words seemed to be pulled from her. "Well—no, Dad. But I would if he did."

"That sort of argument doesn't get a person very far. But if he isn't companionable, let him alone. You have Brody and the boys. And in a few weeks there will be so many guests you'll hardly remember who Spenser Withington is."

Belinda made another condemnation. "He's a darn sissy, too. I had to give an oral report on the bombing of London. I wouldn't have had to depend on the newspaper. I'd have had something real and firsthand. But when I asked him he just looked at me so nasty and said: 'Rully, Belinda,' and walked away. As if that made any sense. When I kept after him he said it was too terrible to talk about. So, I decided he was a sissy."

"Not necessarily, Skeeter." For a few seconds Gordon Adams did not speak. Then he reminded: "You remember the rodeo at the Two-Bar ranch, don't you? And you remember old Tuffy dragged to death? That was too terrible to talk about. We never did talk about it."

There was a white line about Belinda's lips. After a while she dared loosen them. "When you put it to me like that, Dad, I catch." She drew a long breath. "Seriously, though, don't you think he's being snooty about that school business?"

"Most well-to-do children in England go to private schools, Skeeter. You'd go to one yourself if you lived over there. You just happen to live in the most democratic country in the world and in the most democratic section of that country."

The man grinned: "Don't be too hard on little Lord Four-Eyes. He's just a funny looking English boy in short pants and long socks with skinny knees showing in between."

"I don't think he's so funny looking, Dad."

Again Gordon Adams was silent. Before, that silence had been caused by memories of Tuffy; this time, it was caused by amusement. To him Spenser was a comical tike. Belinda's defense made the ranch owner feel as if his face were going to crack into a wide grin. He pulled a sweater over his head and hid in it as long as he dared.

Finally he emerged. "Shall we get changed for supper now, Skeeter?" He dragged her to her feet, then put his arm around her as they went along the patio walk. "By the way, what do you want for your birthday?"

Suddenly Belinda's heart was singing. She wanted to skip, but decided her boots were too much of a hindrance. He hadn't forgotten. He had come down from the cliff cottage especially for her birthday.

Joy made her want to cry. Her father said a girl shouldn't cry. But, golly, there were times when—

She blurted through her thoughts: "Just a big cake and a bigger stomach-ache."

Sandra dressed for dinner with painstaking care. She put on one of her own designs, a russet crepe, its only trimming a yoke that extended over her shoulders onto the sleeves. This was embroidered with emerald and topaz colored stones. With the dress she wore russet shoes, hand-tooled and embellished.

"Say!" exclaimed Spenser. His scrubbed gleaming face showed an approval the girl had never before seen there.

"You like this dress?" "Rather." He added, as they went toward the kitchen: "It's small wonder you gave yourself a breakdown. Sandra. Designing and making such lovely gowns must be quite a task."

"Yes. Quite a task! How right he was, thought Sandra Edwards. If the work could have been all. But the worry and the rivalry—the enmity actually—and the never-ending rush.

Sandra knew, when she saw Belinda, that she was wearing what Brody would call a "pretty little dress." Undoubtedly the old cowboy had bought it for her. It was flowered and had, besides, an artificial flower corsage at the neck.

There was a sash, with rosettes, and she wore a pair of shoes with straps that criss-crossed, reaching no particular destination. Although the happiness in the little girl's face made you not notice the dress too much, Sandra understood why Lewis and cowboy shirts were a favorite garb.

That happiness did not leave Belinda's face except when she looked at the two guests. Sandra felt, if anything, the child was showing deeper dislike than she had before her father came. It's a form of jealousy, the red-haired woman kept telling herself. Yet she knew it was something more than that.

There was no dinner table conversation. Only shop talk between Gordon Adams and his men. Alfalfa, oats, grazing, water, the market, the shipping and all such. Brody, carrying dishes of food and fresh pots of coffee, paused often to join in. Belinda did not seem to mind that the men ignored her. Sandra did mind a bit, that is, she minded being neglected by Gordon Adams for, although she attempted to deny it, she had dressed for him.

But three days passed and still he gave her neither time nor words. Undenially Brody knew what he was talking about when he had said his boss hated women like poison.

For that reason, when the ranch owner suddenly accosted her on the fourth day, with a smile that proclaimed them on excellent terms, Sandra was flabbergasted.

"Drive with me to La Madera, will you please? I'm picking up Belinda's birthday gift and I'd like you to help me select something extra."

VETERANS' GUIDE

BY MAJOR THOMAS M. NIAL

WASHINGTON —

The last two articles have been about vocational rehabilitation (training or education under Public Law 16). I haven't finished with that subject, so next week I'll continue with it. But pardon me if I interrupt myself here for a moment, while I make this a Question and Answer day.

Question from E. W. B., Decatur, Ill.: I have been inducted under the "work or fight" law. Could you tell me if I will be included in the provisions of the GI Bill of Rights? In short, when I get discharged, will I be considered the same as any other man not inducted under the "work or fight" law?

As fiction and the movies are fond of saying—don't worry; everything will be all right. When you get out, you'll have the same rights as any other veteran.

P. A. F., Slater, Mo., asks about a veteran's rights to buy Surplus War Property and how to do it.

First, write to the Surplus Property Division, Smaller War Plants Corporation, 101 Indiana Avenue, Washington, D. C. Ask them for the location of the nearest SWPC district office—there are about a hundred of these.

Second, go to the district office, if you can. If not, write. You want to file an application for the surplus war property you need with the district office. That office is supposed to buy the property for you and then sell it to you at no profit.

At this point it may begin to feel like someone is smacking the top of your head with a six foot gavel, because you will meet difficulties. You have to show that what you want to buy is needed in your business. You can't buy an automobile or a jeep or anything just because you'd like to have it.

Also maybe the SWPC won't be able to get hold of just what you want. Besides an ex-service man can't buy more than $2,500 worth of stuff, anyway.

Ex-Navy officer R. C. B.: I've returned to work with my old firm. But the company takes the attitude that a leave of absence for the armed forces is the same as an extended vacation, or for a course of study, and that a person is not entitled to a vacation until he has been back at work for at least 12 months. He wants to know why he doesn't rate a vacation.

Well, there isn't any law that gives him a vacation. A vacation for an ex-service man who has gone back to his old firm (or even has taken a new job) is entirely a problem to be decided by each individual employer. Purely a matter of company policy.

A former member of the WAAC asks if she rates mustering out pay.

The WAAC was not part of the Army. So women discharged from the WAAC are not entitled to mustering out pay unless they were discharged for physical disability.

If, however, they actually had transferred to the WAC (a part of the Army) and were then discharged, they would be able to get mustering out pay if otherwise qualified, since WACs are entitled.

Since February 3, 1944, all qualified veterans, upon discharge have been given mustering out pay. If you were discharged before that date and haven't your mustering out pay, you should apply for it—Adjutant General's Office or Navy Dept., Bureau of Personnel.

If you are one of those who were discharged over age to take a job in essential industry, you can't get mustering out pay.

WASHINGTON — Reparations—what Germany is going to pay for the damage it did to the nations it overran—have hardly made daily headlines.

The reasons for this are many. The deliberations of the Moscow conference, at which Edwin W. Pauley headed our commission, were secret until they reported their eight points of policy to the Potsdam meeting. When these eight points and further results of horse-trading by the Big Three at Potsdam finally were made public, they were almost immediately overshadowed by the shattering news of the atomic bomb, the collapse of Japan and the final surrender in Tokyo bay.

Then, too, because the disastrous Versailles dollars-and-cents reparations levies were to be avoided, there is no yardstick by which we can measure. We know that Germany is to be stripped of her war potential by having her war factories, real and convertible, taken away from her. We know that she will have to turn over a portion of what industrial production is left for perhaps six years.

We know that Russia is to get approximately 50 per cent of all reparations and will divide with Poland; that England, France and the United States will get the rest and take care of 13 or 14 other nations.

When Pauley returned to Washington the other day, several who attended his press conference complained that he didn't throw much light on the subject. After talking with Pauley, I'm convinced that if the complaint was a personal one, it wasn't justified. There just isn't much more to tell.

Like the United Nations organization, with its charter, the Big Three (or Four) has its eight points and the Potsdam agreements. Whether they can be made to work will depend on how the Reparations council yet to be established does its job.

Pauley says he considers his job 90 per cent finished. Whether thousands of minor war criminals are to be sentenced to hard labor inside or outside Germany and 1,001 other explosive problems will have to be "neutralized" later.

In any consideration of reparations, it is well to remember one thing Pauley said: "It isn't always easy for us to remember that those nations over there aren't like the United States. They have needs, great needs. All that the United States needs—and wants—(out of reparations) is not to be burdened with a destitute and starving Germany."

That, apparently, has been and will be our reparations policy—not to take much of anything, but to try to see it that Germany suffers a justly hard peace without becoming the nest for another litter of Nazis.

NEW TB ROOMS ARE READY FOR FUTURE CLINICS

Association Arranging for Mass X-Rays of School Children

When the next tuberculosis clinic is held here — probably in October or November — there will be a spic and span headquarters all ready.

The headquarters is in the room formerly occupied by Merritt's barber shop in the West Shoop building. The entrance is on South Main Street, the same one which leads to the present Elk clubrooms. A flight of stairs at the left leads to the rooms.

The rooms have been partitioned into rooms, one of which will be used for a waiting room and another for the examinations which Dr. Frank Beeks of Mt. Logan Sanatorium makes. Both are newly painted and papered. The clinics have been held quarterly but it is hoped they can be scheduled more often.

A large storeroom and lavatory complete the rooms which also will be used as headquarters for the annual Christmas seal sale of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Mass X-ray Planned
A mass X-ray of school students is planned for sometime this fall, Mrs. Marguerite Powell, executive secretary of the association, said. She said the X-rays would be made with equipment in a mobile unit from Columbus. The entire program will be financed with funds from the Christmas seal sales and will cost around 60 cents per pupil, she added.

W. J. Hilty is president of the association which is responsible for the establishment of the clinic rooms. Mrs. Vernice Deafner assists Mrs. Powell as secretary and Rev. George B. Parkin is the general chairman of the organization.

LOCAL MAN TRUCK DRIVER IN MANILA

Cpl. Gordon A. Shaw Has 5
Brothers in Service

(Special to the Record-Herald)
WITH THE 866TH ENGINEER AVIATION BATTALION IN MANILA—Cpl. Gordon A. Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Shaw, South North Street, is serving as a heavy truck driver in Manila with the 866th Engineer Aviation Battalion.

One of six brothers in the service, Cpl. Shaw was inducted in February, 1943 and embarked for overseas in April, 1944. For his quick thinking and daring when a plane crashed into an airstrip and trailer he has been cited for meritorious service and was awarded the Bronze Star decoration.

Cpl. Shaw's five brothers in the service are Pfc. Charles W. Shaw with the Military Police in Indiana; Pvt. Percy E. Shaw who served with the infantry in Europe until wounded and discharged; Pvt. Harry L. Shaw with the infantry in Europe now convalescing from wounds at Battle Creek, Mich.; Pfc. Archie P. Shaw of the 716th Railroad Operation Battalion somewhere in Europe; and Eugene Shaw who is training for the infantry in Camp Blanding, Fla.

Cpl. Shaw attended Washington High School and prior to his induction was employed at the A. B. McDonald Mill.

Program Starts

There are 2,187 students enrolled in the 15 county schools now and an increase in enrollment within the next few weeks is expected, W. J. Hilty, superintendent of county schools, said today.

The initial enrollment was less than the 2,200 which was anticipated, but Hilty said collective student bodies as they stand now are larger than the total enrollment last year. He did not have the exact enrollment for the 1944-45 school year.

Most of the students are concentrated in the four high school centers—Jeffersonville, Bloomingburg, Madison Mills and Good

Dialog Presented At WSCS Meeting

The Spring Grove WSCS met at the home of Mrs. Heber McCoy with twelve members and three guests present.

Mrs. Mabel Parrett was program leader and the theme for the afternoon was "Wide Open Doors for the Sick."

A dialogue was presented with the following members acting as missionaries of different countries: Miss Kathryn Eye of Africa—Miss Emma Parrett; Dr. Marjorie Manly of China—Mrs. Robert Parrett; Dr. Cora Kitt of India—Mrs. Waldo Binegar; Miss Ruth Murrell of Alaska—Mrs. Hugh Creamer; Miss Eunice Baber of Santo Domingo—Mrs. Eddie McCoy.

Mrs. Fred Barker closed the program with an interesting description of her recent trip to Canada.

Following the program Mrs. Simeon Simpson was in charge of a short business meeting.

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Two Guests Are Included When Bridge Club Met

Mrs. Robert L. Dunton was a hospitable hostess to members of her two-table bridge club on Thursday evening when she included two guests with the regular members. The guests were Mrs. G. B. Vance and Mrs. James Riffe.

During the course of the evening, bridge was the main entertainment feature for the members and guests. To conclude the many pleasures of the affair, Mrs. Dunton served a delectable salad collation at the small tables which were decorated with bouquets of assorted fall flowers.

Mrs. Riffe was presented a guest award by Mrs. Dunton, and the club prize winners were Mrs. Thomas Christopher and Mrs. Carroll Halliday.

Informal visiting until late in the evening climaxed one of the most pleasant sessions for the congenial group.

Attends Charter Night Dinner In Chillicothe

Over 300 assembled at the Warner dining room in Chillicothe, Thursday evening, for the presentation of the Business and Professional Women's Club charter by the state B.P.W. President, Miss Christine Van Gordon, of Hamilton. Appearing on the program from here were the organizer of the club, Mrs. D. H. Devins and Mrs. Vernice Deafner, president at the time the club was formed.

Other prominent honor guests included Mayor Harold Brown, Miss Lucy Thornton, president of the Altrusa Club; Eltsworth Dotson, Lions Club president; Albert Bernstein, Rotary Club president; H. H. Heine, Kiwanis president; Judge Kenneth Stevens; David Wilson, president Junior Chamber of Commerce, all of whom made short talks.

Presiding over the session after the dinner was Mrs. Chloee Maloney, district director, of Jackson. The charter was presented by the state president, Miss Van Gordon to Miss Ruth Marshall, president of the Chillicothe club.

Others introduced were Miss Marguerite Ralls, Columbus, national radio chairman; Miss Mary Quinn, state auditor, Columbus; Miss Ethel Maud Young, state treasurer, Gallipolis; Miss Jeanette Hayes, executive secretary, Columbus; Mrs. Florence Given, state legislative committee chairman; Mrs. Flora Hoffman, president of the Columbus club.

A large delegation from many cities were in attendance, including 20 from Jackson and 12 from Columbus. Each guest was presented a lovely souvenir program booklet. Bouquets of gladioli were seen in great abundance about the dining room and the guests in formal attire made an attractive picture.

A special tribute was paid to Mrs. Devins by the state president, as well as the president of all Chillicothe civic clubs for her untiring efforts in forming this club, the largest formed in Ohio this past year. In 79 Ohio clubs, there is a membership of 5,200. Attending were Miss Edith Wilson, 1942-43 president of the club here, Miss Gretchen Darlington, chairman of the health committee and Mrs. Mae Schleigh.

New York adopted its present state flag in 1909.

Mrs. Elmer Davis Is Hostess for WCTU Meeting

The Sugar Grove WCTU held their regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elmer Davis.

Mrs. F. E. Haines, president, presided at the business meeting which was opened with the singing of the hymn, "Go Ye Forth and Seed Be Sowing." Mrs. Charles Marine conducted the devotionals.

During the business meeting the treasurer gave the yearly report; and the president announced the county convention to be held at Grace Methodist Church on Friday, September 14.

The president then appointed superintendents of departments of the organization as follows: Flower Mission, Mrs. Clyde Scott; Christian Citizenship, Miss Lois Cavinee; Soldiers and Sailors, Mrs. Earl Scott; Legislature, Mrs. Jean Nisley; Scientific Temperance, Mrs. Ralph Hayes and Publicity, Miss Minnie Breakfield.

Mrs. Jean Nisley was in charge of the program for the afternoon which consisted of papers taken from the "Union Signal." The first paper was read by Mrs. Berl Cavinee and was entitled "Education the Answer to Alcoholism." Miss Blanche Roberts' subject was "Narcotics, Education from Primary to the University." Mrs. Earl Scott chose as her subject, "The Buddies" and the program was closed by a paper, entitled "America's Worst Saboteur," read by Miss Lois Cavinee.

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Mary Kathryn Davis.

Couple Honored With Shower Wednesday Eve

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tinney, whose marriage of August 7 was performed at Richmond, were honored at the South Side Church of Christ Wednesday evening with a miscellaneous shower. Mrs. Tinney was the former Martha Jane Bake of Bloomington.

The gifts were prettily wrapped and banked on a lace covered table in the vestibule of the church, and the new Mr. and Mrs. Tinney graciously thanked each one for the many useful gifts presented to them.

Following the opening of the gifts, refreshments were served from a daintily appointed tea table covered with a lace cloth and centered with a crystal basket filled with fall flowers.

Mrs. Edward J. Cain performed the duties of pouring at the tea table, and others assisting in the hospitalities were Miss Beatrice Taylor, Mrs. Clarence McKenzie, Mrs. Raymond Trout, Mrs. Frank E. Creamer, Mrs. Thomas Snyder,

Mrs. Dewey Will Speak Here Next Wednesday

All of the WSCS circles of the Grace Methodist Church will meet together on Wednesday evening, September 19, to hear Mrs. Horace Dewey of Columbus speak on the subject, "Chinese Christians."

Both Mrs. Dewey and her husband were missionaries in China for a great number of years. Rev. Dewey was held as a prisoner of war for two years and was returned to this country on the USS Gripsholm.

Dependent Children Aid Important Relief Work

One of the many phases of relief here and perhaps one of the least well known is the aid to dependent children program.

Mrs. Lucille Leach, investigator at the relief office here, said there were now 11 mothers receiving financial aid for their children under the program, formerly known as Mothers' Pension.

Half the cost of the program is borne by the federal government, one-fourth by the state and on fourth by the county. Mrs. Leach explained. She said she believed there would be more applicants for the aid when war-working mothers are unable to get work.

Nationwide Program
Aid to dependent children is a nationwide program providing financial aid and social service to children who are dependent because the wage-earner has died, is ill and cannot work, or is absent from home. In Ohio the administration of this program is the responsibility of the counties but the state department of public welfare is responsible for developing uniform standards throughout the state and for supervising the county administrations.

Applications for assistance is made to the county office in the Court House. Before assistance can be given, Mrs. Leach calls at the home to obtain proof that the applicant meets all of the requirements for aid. This includes verification of age, residence, cause of dependency and resources and a complete physical examination of each parent who claims inability to support his children because of illness or physical disability.

Vital Statistics
As part of the investigation, Mrs. Leach and the applicant talk over the living requirements of the individual or family and the income that is available from all sources. Since aid to dependent children grants are not pensions but are given on the basis of actual need, no assistance can be given if the resources are sufficient to take care of the necessities of life. Even though the applicant for aid to dependent children is a relative who has no legal obligation to support the child, his resources must be considered in determining assistance. If a grant is made, the amount will depend on the living requirements of the applicant, on the resources of the individual or family and on the funds available in the county for public assistance.

Law is Strict
The law governing aid to dependent children provides a fine and imprisonment for any person who obtains or attempts to obtain aid to which the child is not entitled.

While receiving assistance, the recipient must continue to meet all the requirements of the program and he is responsible for notifying the county administration of any change in his circumstances which might affect the granting of assistance. Persons receiving aid to dependent children grants must provide good care for their children.

The law relating to aid to dependent children requires that every effort be made to protect the persons receiving assistance from being identified as recipients. Information which does not identify any individual or family may be released, but all other information secured in the administration of these programs is confidential.

Homes Visited
Mrs. Leach is expected to call in the home of the recipient at least once each three months, but is available at other times when the recipient wishes some service.

The worker may be able to help directly with many problems that arise, or may be able to refer the recipient to other agencies in the community which are especially equipped to give the services needed. This will include help in planning meals; consultation on personal problems arising in school or home; suggestions of recreational opportunities; or aid in securing medical care, home instruction, or employment through general service agencies.

Eligibility requirements are:
1. A child must have been deprived of care or support because of the death of a parent; because a parent is unable to work by reason of physical or mental illness; or because support cannot be secured from a parent who is continuously absent from the home. A parent is considered to be continuously absent under any of the following conditions:

- a. A parent is serving a prison sentence of one year or more.
- b. The parents are divorced.
- c. A parent has deserted for six months or more.
- d. A parent is in military service.
- e. The child was born out of wedlock.

2. A child must be living with his own parents or with relatives by blood or marriage nearer than a cousin.

3. The child or the relative must have lived in Ohio for one year prior to filing application for aid. No child may be refused assistance on the grounds that he has not lived long enough in a particular town or county.

4. The child must be under 16 years of age or between 16 and 18 and regularly attending school.

forcing the states to change their laws.

But the first bill up in the senate has furnished a key to the economic control problem from which all post-war issues flow. It was a Bonanza bill to furnish $300,000,000 of federal funds for additional airports in states and cities which will match the federal contribution. We are getting to the time when airplane companies may have to buy their own landing fields. Commercial aviation is no longer a weak, losing, baby industry, but a mighty profitable commercial giant. Their competitors, the railroads must buy right of ways and put in rails. Even steamships must buy or rent docks. But not airplanes. Up to now, they have been fed mail subsidies and landing fields amounting to hundreds of millions a year, and no one in congress suggested yet that it is about time to start weaning.

Many more fields are possibly needed for national defense. We did not have sufficient landing spots to house enough planes to defend this country against invasion throughout this past war, however, defense may hinge on different considerations in the next war.

In any event, one senate move to cut the federal contribution in half, failed by only a 2 to 1 vote. Seeing the rising opposition, Senator McCarran accepted a compromise to spend only three-quarters of the proposed fund, or $75,000,000 a year for three years.

Confronted thus with the alternatives of spending or economy, the senate took the middle course. This is likely to be the lane to be pursued more firmly as the session progresses.

Personally I did not believe the spenders would rise up the way they have since the war. Nearing a $300,000,000 federal debt, with taxes (federal alone) already grasping one-third of the national income and with the Truman spending program officially geared to run five times as high as Roosevelt ever went for the next 22 months, I did not see how a spender could have the audacity or unreasonableness to advocate more disbursement of federal funds. But they are firmer in their demands than ever before — even want a 30 hour government work week at a cost estimated at $2,000,000,000 a year.

How can you expect acknowledgment of the facts of economic life by a spender, when the author of their theory, Lord Keynes, who put over so many of his fancy ideas on Roosevelt (but not on England) including the superiority of deficit spending by governments, is now over here trying to get hard American cash in violation of his own theory.

At the start, congress is developing a confused hesitancy. The tax authorities, for example, (Vinson, Doughton and George) are privately agreed on a sharper tax cut than Mr. Truman mentioned—a cut of perhaps $5,000,000,000 with a little more than half going to individuals and the rest to corporations, permitting abolition of most of the excess profits tax (new dealers do not want this) and eliminating the lowest income tax groups, while helping all individuals a little.

They want to hedge on Mr. Truman, but not too much. Of course, (this cannot be characterized as economy, or anything like it. What I have described as a middle course is merely midway between the hog-wild spenders and the other spenders. The conflict is between those who want to "trim-it-a-little" and those who want to blow it up bigger. Nothing congress can do will prevent the next 22 months from bringing at least five times greater expenditures than ever before in peacetimes.

BRONZE STAR WON BY WALTER TUVELL

T-5 Walter E. Tuvell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tuvell of 1014 East Market Street, is among the Yanks occupying Tokyo now. It was on Mindanao in the Philippines that he earned the Bronze Star Medal, however.

T-5 Tuvell is in the engineer corps. His citation for the medal reads: "For meritorious achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy in Mindanao, Philippine Islands, during the period April 17 to June 30, 1945. T-5 Tuvell performed outstanding services as an instrument operator for an engineer survey section attached to the corps artillery. At all times, his work was accurate and efficient. The duties of the survey section required that most of the work be performed in the forward areas subject to attack by enemy patrols. T-5 Tuvell's courage and devotion to duty was of material benefit to the corps artillery during the campaign."

Before enlisting in the army March 24, 1941, T-5 Tuvell was employed at the Cudahy Packing Co. He left for overseas duty in January, 1945. He attended Madison Mills High School.

Tri-County League Crown At Stake in Sunday's Games

With prospects bright for sewing up the first Tri-County League flag, the Eagles today were all set to throw everything but their shirts into the game at Greenfield Sunday; for a win over the Tigers would put a lock on the title.

Sabina, closest in pursuit of the Eagles, could finish the season one-half game out of first place by winning all of their remaining four games. The town's Merchant team will go to Milledgeville Sunday with high hopes of making a good start down the home stretch.

Should the Eagles be knocked off at Greenfield, the Merchants definitely would be in the running for the league honors.

In the other league game, Good Hope's hard luck boys will put on a benefit game for Jeffersonville's injured playing manager, Lawrence (Windy) Smith, who was knocked out last Sunday when he was hit on the head by a pitched ball.

Carrying the Eagles' hopes will be Lefty Wackman, the southpaw speed baller who set the Greenfielders back with a no-hit performance on July 15. Opposing Lefty on the mound for Greenfield will be Hicks, who gave the Eagles but three hits—a single, a double and a home run, all by Bentley—in the game in which Wackman handcuffed his team mates.

Jeffersonville's benefit game probably will bring Porter to the mound to match tosses with Good Hope's Dawes. Loren (Barney) Coe is in line to take over Smith's managerial duties.

The Milledgevilleans, inspired by the barrage of hits they found they could unleash when they smothered Greenfield last week,

President a Sports Fan!

Talkative Fellow Missourian Gives Background

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Jimmy Conzelmann, the man who parlayed a football suit and a gag into a highly successful run as a social butterfly, came to town today and got to talking about the past that will admit President Truman and as many pals as he wants to the World Series.

This is the "Oakley" that Happy Chandler handed to the President the other day.

Jimmy went into a monologue about how the pass to the President couldn't happen to a nicer guy. Because, said Jim, with sports all set to break out of its wartime straitjacket, there couldn't be a better friend in court for sports than the head man.

Jimmy, former football coach and baseball executive, has been acquainted with the President for a large number of years now, what with both of them Missourians.

In the past two years, the President has been Jimmy's guest at the Touchdown Club banquet in Washington, where Jimmy's speech practically goes with the team.

"You know," Jimmy explains, "I'd be willing to bet President Truman is the top sports fan ever in the White House. He's a fight fan and a baseball fan, and we always would see him at the Missouri-Kansas football games. Only his eyes kept him from competitive athletics when he was young."

"One of his friends once told me about the time in the last war when his artillery battery had a good little fighter named Tommy Murphy. Tommy was matched with a fellow from another outfit, and his whole battery bet a couple months pay on him. The referee was the battery chaplain, Captain Earl Blackman, and he gave the decision to the other guy. Mr. Truman, the story goes, had to finance the battery for the next two months. What's more, he's still friendly with the chaplain to this day."

Brewers Beaten By Colonels, 3-1

(By The Associated Press)
The Louisville Colonels, following their 1944 post-season winning form in the American Association playoff series, held a 2 to 1 edge over Milwaukee's pennant winners today in the best four out of seven games.

The Colonels, who finished in third place both in 1944 and this season, beat the champion Brewers 3 to 1 last night in the third game of the semi-finals at Milwaukee's Borchert Field. They moved on to Louisville today and will resume the series tomorrow.

The third game between the other two semi-finalists, St. Paul and Indianapolis, was postponed last night because of rain and was scheduled for tonight at Indianapolis.

War Veteran Gets Place With Bucks

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Another change in Ohio State's first-string football lineup this week shifted Jack Roe of Steubenville to left guard replacing Ernie Santora of Cleveland.

"The guard position is new to Jack, but he's not afraid of contact work," said Coach Carroll Widdows. Roe played quarterback in high school, was a halfback on the Buckeyes' freshman team in 1941, and a substitute center in 1942 when Ohio State won the Western Conference championship. He joined the squad last Monday after being discharged from the army.

In practice drills yesterday Ira Blackwell, the Columbus West High speedster, received a leg injury and Paul Malinski, third-team tackle from Wheeling, W. Va., injured his ankle.

Widdows reported the squad lost Roger Powell of Columbus and Bill Elliott of Coshocton to the armed forces.

The second team lineup included Charlie Fazio of Marion and Sam Winters of East Liverpool at tackles, Dick Jackson of Wells-ville at end and Bob Dove of Ashland and Clyde Marshall of Mingo Junction in the backfield. Jim Fout of Portsmouth relieved Dove at quarterback.

He said Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold, commander of the 14th Corps, was establishing headquarters at Sendai to the north, and an airborne division would follow him by train tomorrow.

The 27th Division also will move north to the Nagato area within a few days, he said, and occupation of Hokkaido by the Ninth Corps, commanded by Maj. Gen. Charles Ryder, will begin about Sept. 27 with headquarters at Sapporo.

Reds Beat Giants And Hopes Rise

CINCINNATI, Sept. 14.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have their sights on sixth place today as they meet the New York Giants in the finale of a three-game series.

The Redlegs, who won eight of their last 12 games, trail the sixth-place Boston Braves by a game and a half. The Braves come here for the opener of a four-game series tomorrow.

The Reds made it two out of three over New York yesterday as they rallied in the seventh inning to win 3-2.

Ohio Negroes Win

CLEVELAND, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Cleveland Buckeyes, champions of the Negro American Baseball League, defeated the Homestead, Pa. Grays last night in the opener of a seven-game Negro World Series.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Continued buying held wheat futures firm today, but other grains mostly were lower with losses in rye reaching more than a cent at times and declines in oats almost as much.

Expected export demand, belief the government would be in the market for large amounts of flour, and a report that the Commodities Credit Corporation had raised its wheat buying price a cent the bushel in the northwest, were factors boosting wheat prices.

Wheat closed $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ higher to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ lower than the previous finish, Sept. 13, $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢; corn was down $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢, Dec. $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢; rye was $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ down to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ up, Sept. $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢, and barley was off $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢, Sept. 13.

30 PER CENT WAGE HIKE ASKED BY UAW OF CIO

FLINT, Mich., Sept. 14.—(AP)—The powerful United Automobile Workers (CIO) Union today demanded a nationwide 30 percent wage increase for all workers in the automotive industry.

The UAW's international executive board disclosed it will seek strike votes "in scores of plants" if the companies do not agree to the wage demands.

The UAW promised industry the union will "crack down hard on all unauthorized strikes" if the auto manufacturers grant the wage increases.
